

Great news from ELPS Higher Education program!

Michael M. Black has completed A Mosaic of People and Events in the History of Valdosta State University's Business Operations, 1906 to 2006. This reference work is a brief account of the business operations of Valdosta State University, emphasizing past and present employees in the Division of Finance and Administration. I began this project in September, 2004 and concluded it in July, 2006; its publication coincides with the beginning of VSU's Centennial celebration. With over 270 pages and 300 pictures, the first section, organized according to the division's current administrative structure, concentrates on staff and departmental history. The second section contains many employees' recollections about their experiences, their departments, and their coworkers at Valdosta State. These individuals not only have contributed technical and professional expertise, they have given of themselves in ways which have enriched and left lasting impressions on their fellow employees, students, and faculty.
